This is a big day for the fishermen, according to the reports from the various sporting goods houses and from the office of Fred W. Chambers, state fish and game commissioner. At the sporting goods houses there is a general run on the fishing licenses. At several of the stores the fishing enthusiasts were lined up waiting for the licenses. Mr. Chambers says that there have been more licenses this year to the fishermen than ever before and the outlook is there will be a larger number of fishermen on the streams.

REV. ELDERKIN TO LEAVE OGDEN

Rev. Noble Strong Elderkin has resigned the pastorate of the First Congregational church of Ogden and has accepted the pulpit of Plymouth church, Lawrence, Kan., the change to be made Sept. 1.

At a meeting of the Congregational church society last evening Rev. El-derkin's resignation was received and accepted according to the desires indicated in the letter, but a strong effort will be made to induce the pastor to reconsider his decision, as his departure from the local field will be seriously felt in many circles.

The following letter of resignation was received at the meeting last evening and was subsequently accepted:

"Mrs. W. A. McGaw, Clerk First Congregational Church, Ogden: Plymouth church of Lawrence, Kan., has asked me to become its minister on the first of next September. That I may be free to accept the call, I am asking that the relation of pastor and people, which has existed between the First Congregational church of Ogden and myself for the past five years, be ended on the 31st of next August. To that end, when candidates for the ministry of First church are presented this evening, will you ask the church to omit the consideration of my name?"

"NOBLE STRONG ELDERKIN."

TWO MORE MEN ARE ARRESTED

Phillip Shafer and Frank Stras, the two young men who were arrested at Brigham City yesterday as suspects in connection with the Japanese mission house holdup and murder, were brought to Ogden last evening by Chief Browning and Detective Pender for identification, but are apparently not the ones wanted for the crime and they will probably be turned loose today.

Identification Fails.
Shafer and Stras were brought before a large gathering of Japanese last evening, several of whom were among those held up at the mission, but none was able to identify them as the men.

The men were asked questions regarding their recent whereabouts, in regard that their voices might be heard, but the Japanese could distinguish nothing familiar about either of them and they were finally returned to their cells. Shafer and Stras freely admit that they were in Ogden on the night of the murder and only left for Brigham City Monday. The police are convinced that they are not the men.

Before dismissing the Japanese, Chief Browning ordered that Kennedy and Eberhard be brought down once more that all might have another look at them. The hat which is supposed to have been dropped by one of the robbers while leaning through the window of the mission was used for the first time, but little developed to encourage the idea that either is the right man.

Hat Does Not Fit.

Eberhard, the smaller of the two, was first brought in wearing the hat, but it did not fit him. Kennedy, the taller suspect, who was wearing a new hat when arrested, was next ordered to don the hat, which he did, the same being several sizes too large for him and slipping over his ears and eyes. There could be no doubt that he was not the man who lost the hat. Both men were then taken back to their cells.

The Japanese were noticeably disappointed in not finding a familiar face among the four and the Japanese physician, who was wounded in the shoulder, was more uncertain than ever regarding his suspicion that Kennedy is one of the men who did the shooting.

No Bruises Found.

All four men were carefully examined about the head and shoulders in search of marks or bruises which might have been made by the chair which one of the Japanese broke to pieces in his attack on one of the robbers just before the shooting occurred. There is not a bruise on any of them. While not advertising the fact, the police are still confident that other clues which they are following will result in the capture of the murderers and every effort is being made in that direction.

GAMBLERS FIGHT OVER A DEBT

A cutting affray which occurred on lower Twenty-fifth street about 1 o'clock this morning may result fatally to Ed Jones a local gambler. Joe Pache, who, was arrested by patrolmen Layne, Hearn and Pincock after the fight, is held at the city jail without bond.

The trouble is said to have originated over some financial matter. Jones is said to have demanded a sum of money due him by Pache, when the latter whipped out a knife and attacked him. The main artery of Jones' left arm was severed and the large muscles of the arm severed by the sharp blade of the knife wielded by his assailant. Jones obtained a revolver and chased the other man nearly a block, but did not fire for fear of hitting other pedestrians on the street.

The wounded man was taken to his room at the Loyal rooming house on Grant avenue between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets where Dr. H. B. Forbes was called to attend him. The injured man was badly weakened from loss of blood and Dr. Forbes says that his wounds may prove fatal.

Both men are gamblers. Pache is employed at the Turf club rooms as a dealer at a "twenty-one" game. An effort was made by Jones' friends to hush the matter up, it being claimed that he cut himself accidentally.

SABURO ICHIMURA IS LAID TO REST

In the presence of a large number of fellow countrymen and many American friends, who filled the church to overflowing, impressive funeral services over the remains of Saburo Ichimura, the prominent Japanese banker who was murdered by desperate highwaymen at the Japanese mission house last Saturday night, were held at the Church of the Good Shepherd yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Rev. C. Suzuki, a local Japanese minister, and the Rev. W. Fleetwood, rector of the church, paid beautiful tributes to the memory of the dead man, who had been a devout Christian since his confirmation some time ago. The Japanese minister spoke eloquently of the day of resurrection, when all men will be judged according to their deeds on this earth. Rev. Fleetwood and Japanese friends of the dead man also spoke eloquently of the Christian attributes of the departed.

The church choir gave a number of appropriate selections, after which the cortege was formed and the remains, headed by Agnew's band, playing a funeral dirge, were escorted to the city cemetery for burial. Over one hundred Japanese friends of the dead followed the remains on foot and in vehicles to the last resting place.

SHOULD GRADE THE CARPENTERS

Editor Standard:

Just at present the local building industry is demoralized by a strike called by the Carpenters' union and buildings of all classes in course of erection are practically at a standstill. The injustice of this to the owner, in other words, the man who pays the bills, is at once apparent for he is very much inconvenienced if not out of pocket, in case of residential work, and he is actually forced to lose money through deferred rents, etc., if the work be of a commercial character.

Right now seems to us an ill-advised time to bring on a strike, being in the midst of the building season

Woman's Suffrage:

Every woman in the country is interested in knowing the progress of the Woman's Suffrage movement. The daily newspapers keep them generally informed as to what is going on in this country. But they don't know what the women of Europe are doing. To answer this question, Cosmopolitan Magazine sent Winifred Black to Great Britain to study the situation at first hand. Mrs. Black has told the story in a wonderful presentation of the facts, describing the personalities of the leaders and the movement abroad.

Political Graft:

Under the general title of "What are you going to do about it?" Charles Edward Russell, the famous investigator, sociologist and writer, tells the story of political graft throughout the United States—how legislative rottenness is reaching into the pocketbooks of the average citizen. In a series of articles in the Cosmopolitan he makes a big sweeping expose, told in a dramatic style, of public corruption as he has found it in various places in this country.

Religious Thought:

Harold Bloor, whose work along this line of investigation is the most notable of any investigator of his time, exposes the radical revolutionary religion that is being taught in the women's colleges of this country; shows how these young women are being graduated into the world equipped with a religious training that is startling, if not actually sensational. Every one is interested in what some BIG men do, or has done. The Cosmopolitan Magazine is fortunate in having been able to induce Porfirio Diaz, "Dictator-President of Mexico," to write his autobiography. Besides that, Cosmopolitan has secured the autobiography of General Miles, whom military experts abroad regard as a very great soldier. Both President Diaz and General Miles have been makers of history in the biggest sense. Their autobiographies will appear in the Cosmopolitan.

RAILROAD MEN

Conductors, Engineers, Brakemen, Milkmen and others whose business calls them from home in the early morning, should have gas in their kitchens. Don't call your wife at an unreasonable hour just to get you a little breakfast, use a gas stove and do it your self and you will be proud of your skill. If you want to go fishing or catch an early train, you do not know how nice it will be to start your coffee on the gas stove while you are dressing; a quickly prepared breakfast at a time when time is precious, is a pleasure to tired nerves. A steaming cup of coffee, a slice of well fried ham and with nicely toasted bread made on the top burner of a gas stove, can all be done in the time it takes to start a fire in a coal stove. Many times you leave home without breakfast because you are late and cannot wait for a fire. You are disappointed and go away perhaps a little cross. This is unfortunate, for it may be that a little thing like this may effect your work.

Do not wait another day, but order a gas stove right away and learn to cook your early morning meal and you will always leave home in a happy state of mind.

If this gas cooking stove can do so much for you, how much more can it do for your wife who does all the cooking every day of her life.

If you will only try it, you will never deny it
That what I have said is true.

If you will only try it, you will never forget it,
Whenever you change from the old to the new.

Gas is the only thing for those who want a quick meal and a pleasant journey.

and contractors having work under way which they have figured on early in the year and which will, in many cases, result in direct loss to them if they are forced to pay the increase now. If mechanics feel that they should have a higher wage, how much better it would be to adjust their differences at the first of the year before the season's work had gotten under way.

But regarding this wage question, which is, after all, the nucleus of the whole difficulty, is it really a just demand? Mechanics claim that owing to the present high cost of living they cannot exist on $4 a day, which is the equivalent of $104 a month. After a quiet little canvass on our part it has proved surprising to learn just what percentage of professional men, who have spent at least several hundreds of dollars and some years of their time in fitting themselves for their vocation, really average as much after paying office rent and expenses incidental to their work, to say nothing of the responability they are required to shoulder. We firmly believe that striking is by no means the most effective way of adjusting the wage scale, for the reasons that it affords too much advantage to the unworthy and it hinders building, thus putting a damper on an industry that means so much to any community. Already several fine building projects in Ogden have been given up owing to the unsettled condition of labor. Building is very high as it is and one of the architect's hardest problems is to keep his client's ideas regarding his building within the means at hand. The architect comes in direct contact with all of the mechanics and tradesmen whose work enters into the construction and finishing of a building and he must make provision for everything that goes into that building, but for all ordinary work he is too often forced to substitute something much inferior to his original conception of his design because of being hampered by insufficient means.

We have no grievance against the union; in fact, we believe it to be the proper thing if properly handled, but it is abusing a good principle, the principle of co-operation, when men form a league to increase the wage of a certain class of mechanics generally, making no distinction between deserving and undeserving ones; for how many of our carpenters are really worth $4.50 a day? It might be argued that they are required to learn their trade thoroughly before they are accepted by the union, but the truth of the matter is that a large percentage of them are not worth a cent over $2.50 a day and an architect is in a pretty good position to judge of the merits of work done by different men. If a man can really earn $4.50 or $5 a day, or even $6, pay it to him, for he will do twice the work of an inexperienced man and do it better, but to force the building public to pay a man who has been doing carpenter work less than six months the same money that the skilled mechanic draws is, to our point of view, manifestly unjust.

Therefore, it seems to us that instead of calling a strike, with all its resultant disadvantages, it would be much better, and certainly fairer, to grade the men in the union and pay them as much as they are capable of earning, and with the scarcity of first-class mechanics which is prevalent generally, contractors would be glad to pay $4.50 or even $5 a day for a man if he could earn the money. (Signed) SHREEVE & MADSEN.

METAL WORKERS WILL SHOP EARLY

The sheet metal workers have joined the ranks of those who are in favor of early closing, thus adding another railroad organization to the list of societies that have decided to support the cause of the retail clerks.

Vote For Early Closing.
Ogden Sheet Metal Workers' union, No. 341, at a meeting held in Labor hall last evening, unanimously voted in favor of early closing and a committee, consisting of John Quinn and Harry Pounders, was appointed to present to the local papers the resolutions which were adopted.

When asked regarding the alleged protest of certain railroad organizations against early closing of retail stores, one of the members of the union referred to said:

Member Makes Statement.

"The yard men at the depot are the only ones who have protested against the early closing movement and as they do not represent one sixteenth of the local railroad employees their protest does not amount to much. Not more than twenty of these men and their grievance is due to the fact that they are obliged to work from six in the morning to six at night. This of course makes it difficult for them to get away early enough to do much shopping on Saturday nights.

"It would be much more practical for us all to co-operate in an effort to secure better hours for those few than to support them in fighting this excellent cause. You may feel assured that the railroad men are in favor of early closing.

A REAL CURE

S. S. S. FOR BLOOD DISEASE

S. S. S. is a real cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is a real blood purifier. We all realize that this disease is a specific blood infection of the most powerful nature, the virus of which so thoroughly poisons the corpuscles of the circulation that its symptoms are manifested over almost the entire body. First, comes a tiny sore or pimple, then the mouth and throat ulcerate, the glands in the groin swell, the hair begins to fall out, skin diseases break out on the body, sores and ulcers appear, and even the bones ache with rheumatic pains. It is reasonable to believe that in a blood poison so powerful as this that only a blood purifier can have any permanent good effect. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and by thoroughly cleansing the blood of every particle of the insidious virus makes a permanent and lasting cure of Contagious Blood Poison. It does not hide or cover up the disease in the system but it entirely removes the last trace of its destructive germs. If you are suffering with this disease S. S. S. will cure you because it will cleanse your blood, cleanse your roots, herbs and bark, and is a medicine so absolutely safe and certain in its results, that everyone may cure themselves at home, and be assured the cure will be permanent and lasting.
